FINE PROSPECTS FOR FIRST SHOW

Gettysburg's Poultry Exhibit will contain several thousand birds from this and adjoining counties. Much Pleased with Outlook.

The management of the Gettysburg Poultry Show, to be held in the Centre Square Garage December 7 to 11, are enthusiastic over the prospects and say that the event here will eclipse in many ways the successful shows held in Biglerville in former years. The inquiries from poultrymen in this and other states are far more numerous than for any of the Biglerville shows, it is said, and a corresponding increase in the entries may be expected.

The men in charge of the preliminary plans for the exhibition state that they expect fully 1500 entries, which mean two or three times that many birds. In addition to the chickens of many varieties, there will be ducks, turkeys, pigeons, and other fowls, and the several hundred coops which were formerly used at Biglerville will be taxed to the utmost to accommodate all the poultry which will be brought here.

While the majority of the entries are from Adams County, other parts of the State will also be represented as well as Maryland and one or two other states, and the interest aroused by the exhibition promises to be widespread.

The awards will be really worth while. Of the many fine cups offered at the various shows at Biglerville only two or three remain to be competed for to get permanent possession and it was necessary for the management of the Gettysburg show to procure new cups. Fourteen fine silver trophies have been purchased. They are of size and design to make them well worth while and a coveted possession of any who may be fortunate enough to win them.

The premium lists and programs for the show have been issued and are now being distributed generally to all who are interested. The fact that it is Gettysburg's first experience with a poultry show lends novelty to it and the attendance is expected to be fully up to that secured in Biglerville, and possibly in advance of that registered in the progressive up-county town during the years the event was held there.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Fearing Amputation of Leg, Fruit Grower Refuses to Sleep.

So determined that the physicians in charge must not amputate his leg, which is said to be his only hope for recovery, Washington Gower, residing about two miles northwest of Keedysville has refused to lie down or sleep for several days since the physicians told him his condition and only chance to live.

He is known by a number of the Adams County fruit growers.

About two weeks ago, while packing apples at his home, Gower accidentally dropped a barrel of apples on his foot. He thought nothing of the injury, which appeared to be slight. Several days later his foot and leg began to swell and he called in the family physician. He in turn upon seeing Gower's condition, called in several other physicians. They told Gower that his only chance would be to have his leg amputated. Gower refused to listen to them and to be sure that no one attempted to give him any anaesthetics, he refused to lie down and has been awake now for several days. Monday night Gower's condition was reported to be very critical and little hope is entertained for his recovery.

GETS BETTER POSITION

Goes to Important Work in Philadelphia. Gets Deserved Praise.

Frank H. Clutz, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Clutz, of Seminary Ridge, has resigned his post of duty as borough engineer of Chambersburg to accept an important position with the Civil Service Commission of Philadelphia. The Chambersburg "Public Opinion" says of him:

"He has made a capable official and his departure will be a loss to the municipal machinery. Not only as a borough officer, but also as a citizen, Mr. Clutz has been useful, taking an active part in a number of organizations the aim of which is the advancement of the town, both religiously and materially."

COMMITTEES MERGED

Dr. Sieber will Continue to Give Lectures on Temperance.

The Lutheran Temperance Committee has been merged into the General Synod Committee under the direction of Dr. W. H. Gotwald, of Washington, D. C., appointed by the General Synod as general secretary. Dr. L. L. Sieber, of Gettysburg, has been asked to continue his work under the General Synod Committee as lecturer on the matter of Temperance.

ONE OF COUNTY'S OLDEST RESIDENTS

Mrs. Henry Wildesin, Member of Representative Family, Dies at Age of Ninety Five. Former East Berlin Man Dead.

MRS. HENRY WILDESIN

Mrs. Henry Wildesin died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at the home of her son, John A. Wildesin, near Arendtsville, death following less than a week's illness from the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Wildesin was a member of one of the oldest and most substantial families of the county. She was a remarkable person in many ways, having all her faculties unimpaired at the advanced age of 95 years, 4 months, and 5 days. She was a faithful and consistent member of the Reformed church at Arendtsville.

Mrs. Wildesin's maiden name was Julia Anna Fisher. She was a daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Benner) Fisher. She leaves one brother, Abraham Fisher, of Mount Airy, Maryland; one step-brother, T. A. Fisher, Arendtsville; and one step-sister, Mrs. David Toot, Chester County. She also leaves one daughter and one son, Mrs. A. M. Heiges, Arendtsville; and John A. Wildesin, with whom she had made her home for the past fifteen years, since the death of her husband.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, November 11, meeting at the house at 10 a. m. Services at the Reformed church, Arendtsville, conducted by her pastor, Rev. T. C. Hesson. Interment in Greenmount cemetery, Arendtsville.

Friends and relatives will please accept this as notice of the funeral.

DR. GEORGE R. KUHN

Dr. George R. Kuhn, formerly of East Berlin, and prominent in the Catholic church through his founding of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, died Friday at his home in Brooklyn, aged 68 years. He was medical examiner of the Legion since its organization and, in addition to the practice of his profession, was prominently identified with a number of research and beneficial societies.

Dr. Kuhn married Miss Mary Hussey, who survives him, with three daughters, Mrs. Peter J. McGoldrick, Miss Pauline J. Kuhn and Miss Ruth Agnes Kuhn, and a son, John Sutherland Kuhn; also a sister, Mrs. Jane E. Reilly, and two brothers, James Joseph A. Kuhn, of Port Townsend, Wash., and John R. Kuhn, a lawyer of Brooklyn.

OFFICERS MAKE FIVE ARRESTS

Believe they will Put Stop to Robberies in Neighboring Town. Several Officers Concerned in the Actions.

Five arrests were made in Hanover yesterday growing out of the robberies committed in that borough within the past thirteen months. Three of these were made by Deputy Sheriff Herb Kain, while the remaining two were made by Chief of Police Smeach, of the Hanover force. The three arrested by the York officer are Irvin and Raymond Rickrode and Linford Donson. They are charged with burglarizing the home of J. W. Gitt, Esq., of Hanover, when a quantity of jewelry was stolen. This jewelry was recently recovered by Deputy Sheriff Kain where it was hidden in an old shed, and the valuables turned over to Mrs. Gitt, who easily identified them as her property.

The men arrested by Officer Smeach are Dewey Bowers and Cletus Becker. All five have been lodged in jail for hearings. This makes seven persons who have been picked up by the authorities since Saturday, when Ernest Carr and Garfield Clark were arrested by Chief Smeach and Officer Krebs, the former charged with the robbery of the Broadway restaurant of Hanover, while Clark was picked up on a charge of receiving stolen goods. They also are in jail.

It is the opinion of the officers that the gang of thieves operating in Hanover for some time past is being gradually rounded up. Since the burglarizing of the Gitt home, September 30, 1914, while members of the family were absent, the search has been instituted for the jewelry as well as the robbers, and it was only last week that the former was located by the York officer, who had been detailed on the case by District Attorney Gross.

Bowers and Becker, the two arrested by Officer Smeach, were picked up on suspicion, and are being held pending a further investigation into the other robberies committed more recently.

ARGUED BIG QUESTION

Decide that State should Force Compulsory Insurance Idea.

The Senior and Junior debaters at college on Monday evening argued the question, "Resolved, that a System of Compulsory Industrial Insurance should be Adopted by the State of Pennsylvania." It was the first of the series of inter-class debates for this year and the Juniors, who argued the affirmative side, won the unanimous decision of the three judges, Dr. A. E. Wagner, S. S. Neely Esq., and John Reed Scott. The presiding officer was Dr. P. M. Bickle. The winning debaters were C. L. Venable, W. V. Bennett, and P. E. Sterner. The debaters arguing the negative side were E. Lloyd Rothfuss, Amos Krebs, and A. E. Rudisill. The winners of Monday evening's debate will next meet the winners of the Sophomore-Freshman debate.

FARMERS ENJOY THEIR BIG YEAR

Almost Every Crop a Bumper One and Wealth of the County as a Result will be Greatly Increased. Facts and Figures.

The nation's principal farm crops this year are worth about $5,500,000,000, exceeding by more than a half billion their value in 1914, the previous banner value year in the country's crop history. There has been an unprecedented harvest, many of the crops exceeding their best records, and high prices due to the influence of the European war have contributed to swell the total value.

Statistics announced by the Department of Agriculture in its November crop report base values on prevailing November prices. Corn, with a production of 3,090,509,000 bushels—34,000,000 bushels below the record crop—is worth $1,913,025,071, the most valuable corn crop ever grown. It exceeds the former biggest value crop, that of 1914, by $190,000,000.

Wheat, with the largest production ever known in any country, 1,002,029,000 bushels, or about one-fourth of the world's wheat crop this year, is worth $932,888,999, or $54,000,000 more than the record made in 1914.

"The increase in corn production is most marked in the Southern, or cotton-growing states. These eleven states increased their production 55 per cent over the amount they raised last year, and 37 per cent over the average yearly production in the preceding five years. They produced about 27 per cent of this year's crop; usually they produce about 22 per cent of the crop. The crop is especially short and of poor quality in the area included in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and North Dakota."

The oats crop also was a record one, both in point of production and value. Barley, rye, sweet potatoes, hay and rice were record crops in point of production, and tobacco almost equalled its best production. The rye and hay crops were records in point of value.

Potato prospects declined 9,000,000 bushels during October, the crop now being placed at 359,253,000 bushels. That is 46,000,000 less than last year's crop, and the prospective moderate supply for winter use is reflected in the sharp advance in farm price from 48.7 cents a bushel on October 1 to 60.8 cents on November 1. The November 1 price is 8 cents higher than a year ago.

The crop is shortest in Northern states which grow the surplus of the late crop. The quality, too, is below average.

GREAT ALLIED ARMY IN SALONIKA

Kitchener Expected to Lead General Advance.

1500 SERBIANS CAPTURED

Germans Sweep Southward and Bulgarians Say They Checked English and French Offensive.

London, Nov. 9.—It is announced that before his departure for the Balkans Lord Kitchener held conferences in Paris with Premier Briand, General Gallieni, the war minister, and General Joffre, the commander in chief of the field forces.

This has given confidence that the near east campaign is to be carried on energetically and that despite the refusal of Greece to go to the defence of Serbia, it is not too late to turn the tables on the invaders. A general advance is expected to follow Kitchener's arrival.

Advices from Salonika and other points show that much larger forces than were thought to be near the scene are being landed and are proceeding to points where it is believed they can do the most good. Troop trains are continually leaving Salonika, but so much secrecy is being maintained that it is impossible to compute the number of men.

The French offensive against the Bulgarians is reported as proceeding surely but slowly because of the difficulties of the terrain in the sector northeast of Strumitza. The French advance toward the north is said to be continuing uninterruptedly with a British contingent on the right wing. The capture of Kojah and Babuna Heyts is reported.

A Sofia statement declares: "Near Prilep, Krivolak and Strumitza we arrested the offensive of the English and French and repulsed them with considerable enemy losses. We captured many prisoners and vast quantities of war material of all kinds."

The Bulgarian statement also says: "Our troops operating north of the Nisava river have approached the Morava valley and established near Parac in direct communication with the German troops who are advancing from the north."

A force of 25,000 Bulgarians is trying to envelop the French forces in the Valandovo region, according to Greek outposts near the Belasica mountain, near which the Greek, Bulgarian and Serb borders join. Heavy artillery and rifle fire have been heard at the outpost station.

Berlin reported that the German troops had reached and occupied the town of Krushevat, fifty miles northwest of Nish. It is the terminus of a branch railway. The Germans captured 4,500 Serbs, ten cannons and large quantities of munitions and medical supplies.

The fall of Nish has united solidly the main Bulgarian forces and the Austro-German armies advancing from the north. Hitherto their communications consisted merely of tentative reaching out of advance guards.

The Bulgarians and their allies now hold considerably more than half of Serbia and command the Nish railway, which has been one of the chief objectives of their campaign.

Another Russian success is claim by Petrograd in the fighting around Rafalevka. Here the czar's forces took twenty-two officers and 712 men.

Drop Bombs on Patrol Ship
Berlin, Nov. 9.—Official announcement was made that two German aeroplanes seriously damaged a British patrol ship off North Hinder lightship in the North sea on Saturday.

The aeroplane's pilots dropped two bombs on the steamship, believed to be the Cotterel, and flames were seen to rise from the ship.

SUBMARINE SINKS GERMAN WARSHIP

Cruiser Undine Torpedoed Off Coast of Sweden.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The small German cruiser Undine has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine off the Swedish coast, it was officially announced.

"The small cruiser Undine," says the official announcement, "was sunk by two torpedoes from a submarine on the afternoon of November 7, while patrolling the south Swedish coast. Nearly the entire crew was saved."

British Armed Ship Sunk

London, Nov. 9.—The British armed merchantman Tara was attacked and sunk in the eastern Mediterranean by two German submarines last Friday, according to an announcement by the official press bureau. The statement follows:

"On the 5th inst. his majesty's armed boarding steamship Tara, Captain Gwatkin Williams, was attacked by two enemy submarines in the eastern Mediterranean and sunk. Thirty of the crew are reported missing."

The British steamship Woolwich, 1800 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was picked up after being in the small boats for sixty hours.

The Aberdeen steamship Alastair, 356 gross tons, has also been sunk. Three members of the crew were saved.

Fifty-five members of the crew of the French steamship Calbad, which was sunk by a German submarine November 4 in the vicinity of the Strait of Gibraltar, have been rescued and taken to port by the British steamship Lady Plymouth.

FIGHTING SHIFTS IN WEST

The French Take German Posts Above Roye.

London, Nov. 9.—For the moment the centre of activity on the western front has shifted from the Champagne district westward, toward the sectors nearer Paris.

The region between the Somme and the Oise, southwest of Amiens, figured in the official reports as the scene of a French success. German posts before Auchery, northwest of Roye, were taken by French troops, while to the southeast, at Beaurailles, the Germans attempted a sortie from their trenches, but were driven back by the fire of the French artillery. Heavy artillery duels followed in this region.

The Germans attempted a hand grenade attack against the French positions east of the Butte-de-Mesnil, in Champagne, but were easily driven off, and in a continuation of the fighting at La Chapelle, in the Vosges, the French field guns silenced the German mine throwers.

In Belgium intense fighting with trench guns is reported by Paris, and in the Vosges intermittent infantry actions are recorded. In Artois violent artillery engagements have taken place. In the Argonne the French mines destroyed a German sap in which the enemy was working.

FRENCH LINER AFIRE AT SEA

The Rochambeau is Making For Halifax.

Steamer Has Blaze in Reserve Coal Bunker, But Captain Reports No Danger—365 Persons Aboard.

New York, Nov. 9.—The French line steamship Rochambeau, which left here Saturday with passengers and cargo for Bordeaux, has a fire in the reserve coal bunker, according to a message received at the French line office.

The message, which was from the captain, stated that the Rochambeau is not in danger, but has turned toward Halifax, and that the fire is being fought with all facilities. The message read:

"Fire in reserve coal bunker amidships. Fighting fire and have turned toward Halifax. Hope to put it out. Am in no danger at all."

Paul Faguet, general agent of the line, said that if it were found necessary to take the ship into Halifax it should reach there today. "It may not be necessary, however," Mr. Faguet said, "for her to proceed to Halifax. She would go there only if the fire could not readily be extinguished."

The Rochambeau sailed from New York with 171 passengers in the cabins and 250 in the steerage. She carried a full cargo of general merchandise. Her captain is M. Juham. Her first cabin passenger list contains mostly French names.

There are about sixty Americans aboard, according to information at the French line.

It is believed in marine circles that the fire was of incendiary origin, probably being caused by the explosion of a bomb that was put into the reserve coal bunker and not discovered when the vessel was searched before its departure for Bordeaux. The Rochambeau, like all other transatlantic liners, was searched from stem to stern before it sailed, but the bomb may have been hidden so deeply that it was overlooked.

It became known that while the vessel was being loaded Saturday morning, a bag of sugar was dropped and on investigation this bag was found to contain a bomb.

Three other liners are in the immediate vicinity of the Rochambeau, so that they can stand by if their services are required.

The Rochambeau is well equipped with lifeboats and fire-fighting equipment. The reserve bunker in which the fire originated is easily segregated by water-tight fireproof bulkheads.

The steamship was still in wireless communication with New York when the captain sent his message, but was probably closer to Halifax than any United States port, causing her commander to decide to go there.

GIRL COURTED BY MAIL

Answers Letter Found in Shipment of Shoes—Married Now.

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 9.—With the issuing of announcements by Rev. and Mrs. Henry L. Rhoades, of Shippensburg, of the marriage of their niece, Miss Ida C. Rhoades, to Max A. Milton, Williamsport, the details of a unique courtship and marriage have just been learned.

Miss Rhoades formerly was a clerk in a mercantile establishment at Shippensburg. In December, 1914, a shipment of shoes was received from Endicott, N. Y., in one of the boxes of which was a letter requesting "correspondence with a lady." She answered the note. Letter and photographs were exchanged and the courtship carried on until recently by mail. They will live at Endicott, N. Y.

PROMISE COAL TAX BACK

But Public Must Wait Until State Drops All Attempt to Collect It.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 9.—A circular issued from headquarters of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company, in Pottsville, announcing that money collected for the coal tax would be returned to the purchasers just as soon as the state gave assurance that no further proceedings would be taken to collect this tax.

The company will return the tax to the coal dealers, who will then be called upon to refund to their retail trade.

Retired Minister Commits Suicide

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Despondent because of failing health, Rev. James S. McKinley, a retired Methodist minister, shot himself through the head in his home, 21 Parnona terrace, Germantown. Death was instantaneous. Mr. McKinley was fifty-eight years old and is survived by a widow and one daughter. Since last June Mr. McKinley has been in failing health, owing to a fall from a step ladder in his home. He injured his spine and spent several months in the Methodist hospital. It is said his case was incurable, and this preyed upon his mind.

Democratic House Leader Opposed to Defence Plans.

KITCHIN AGAINST DEFENCE PROGRAM

Democratic House Leader Won't Support Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Representative Claude Kitchen, North Carolina, Democratic leader of the house, told President Wilson, after a long conference with him, that he could not support the administration's program for national defence, and that he would oppose the program in a personal capacity only and not as majority leader.

Mr. Kitchen was with the president more than an hour, during which Mr. Wilson outlined to him the army and navy plans for the next session of congress and for the next five years, and sought to influence the majority leader to be in harmony with them. Mr. Kitchen stated his views frankly to the president, directing his opposition chiefly to the naval program. "All I can say," said Mr. Kitchen as he left the White House, "is that I very much regret that I cannot support the president's national defence program. The plans do not meet with my convictions, particularly with reference to the navy."

Mr. Kitchen was asked his grounds for opposing the naval program. "I shall make a clear exposition of my views as soon as congress convenes in a speech in the house," he replied. Mr. Kitchen said he thought it very probable the majority would favor the defence program.

MURDERER CONFESSES

Drifton, Pa. Youth Admits Killing Game Warden.

Hazleton, Pa., Nov. 9.—Francis Thomas, an unmarried young man of Drifton, is in Carbon county jail at Mauch Chunk, the self-confessed slayer of Joseph McHugh, of Weatherly, state game warden, in the woods near Hazleton creek, when McHugh attempted to arrest Thomas and four others for illegal hunting.

Thomas was taken into custody at the home of his parents, and, after being brought to Hazleton, admitted the shooting and turned over the gun with which he said he did it.

He said that when McHugh approached him and asked what luck he had during the day he told him he had bagged one rabbit. McHugh ordered Thomas to empty his gun and Thomas fired at the warden, who fell wounded fatally and died shortly afterward.

Thomas confessed that he also aimed at William Brown, who accompanied McHugh, and pulled the trigger, but that the charge failed to go off.

Send Regrets to Whitlock

Washington, Nov. 9.—Secretary Lansing announced that the German military authorities in Belgium had expressed to the American minister, Brand Whitlock, their regrets that published reports should have made it appear he was leaving Belgium as a result of objections from the German government. Mr. Whitlock was assured the German authorities regretted his departure.

DISASTROUS FIRE

Cattle, Horses and Mules Lost with Farm Implements and Crops.

A large frame bank barn on the farm owned and occupied by Bertus Olphin, located between Felton and Brogueville, York County, was destroyed by fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, shortly after midnight, Monday morning. The loss is estimated to be about $3,000, part of which is covered by insurance. The property is known as the old Runkle farm.

About 12:15 o'clock Monday morning Olphin was aroused from his sleep by the roaring of the flames. He mistook the noise for that of an automobile, which he thought had stopped in front of the house. Looking out of the window he was just in time to see the roof of the barn fall in. The fire had made great headway, and nothing could be done to save any of the contents of the barn. Five head of cattle, four horses, three mules, about 25 chickens and 25 pigeons were destroyed in the flames. Another horse escaped from the barn, but was so badly burned that it will probably have to be killed.

Between two and three hundred bushels of wheat, three buggies, and all the farm implements were also destroyed. The corn crib, with about 1,200 bushels of corn, adjoining the barn, was burned. Olphin, in speaking of the fire, stated that shortly before dark Monday evening two tramps passed the farm, and it is believed that they may have taken refuge in the barn and set it on fire. The barn was about 70 x 50 feet in dimensions.

WELCOME RELIEF

Heavy Rain Puts End to the Forest Fires.

Rain Monday night extinguished the mountain fire which has been burning since Saturday morning in the mountains near Fair View. On Sunday night it was believed by residents that the fire was under control, but during the night, it broke out again, and early Monday morning more than two score of fighters turned out and battled with the flames.

It is estimated that nearly five hundred acres have been burned over by this fire, entailing a total loss of between $4,000 and $5,000 at the lowest estimate.

The residents of the mountainous region are becoming desperate over the unusual amount of forest fires every fall and they state that it is their belief that the majority of the fires are of incendiary origin, because several of the fires that were "nipped in the bud" were a great distance from the other fires then burning and could only have been started by some person or persons who did it in revenge. A number of persons residing in these regions, it is stated, have appealed to the State officials to investigate the fires this fall.

"The Girl on the Cover" Advises "Movie-Stricken" Women and Girls—Also Discusses Movie Wardrobes

Miss Edith Johnson who herewith writes her own story of motion picture experiences has developed within the past few years into one of the most versatile of movie stars. Before her debut in the movies, Miss Johnson was known as "the girl on the cover," her pretty face adorning the outside covers of many popular magazines.—Ed.

By EDITH JOHNSON
There really was nothing exciting about my entering motion pictures. I just wanted to get into the work and I applied to the Selig company because I enjoyed their artistic productions. I surely was surprised when I received word that I would be given a trial, for I had feared that my ambition would never be satisfied.

I had been working for a Philadelphia Company posing for illustrations which appeared on the covers of their advertising booklets. When I received word from Mr. Selig that an opportunity to enter motion picture work awaited me, I took the first train for the West and arrived as soon as possible in Los Angeles where the great studios of the Selig Company are located.

I have found it is so much easier for the man who poses for the camera to dress than the women that it almost seems unjust at times. One of the things which keeps me busy night after night in my home is planning new dresses to wear in forthcoming

It has become almost impossible for young women without previous theatrical experience to secure engagements in motion picture productions. Long lists of experienced theatrical people are waiting for engagements and there is little opportunity for the amateurs to gain a livelihood via motion picture acting. And some of these girls would be sadly disillusioned, too, should they engage in the art. When your screen favorite appears in the cozy theatre and the orchestra plays and there is applause, the girls may be pardoned for longing to become film favorites like the others. This is just one side to the situation however. The other side is not so attractive. There is the hard toil which every movie actress must undergo. Frequently work starts at 7 a. m., and does not finish until late at night. There are no bright lights, no applause in the actual work of movie acting. Instead there is the sometimes gloomy studio, suffocatingly hot under the glass roof in the summer time, often unbearably cold in the winter time; there is the director who does not hesitate to reprimand; there are the scenes to be rehearsed time and time again until one is exhausted; there are the hazards which are necessary to undergo in order to provide the thrills longed for by the audiences and there is the uncertainty for weeks or maybe months whether or not your part has "gone over."

To all "movie-struck girls" I would say "Don't!"

Film critics tell me that my very best work was in the part of "Sweet Alyssum" in the late Charles Major's appealing story of the same name, released as a Selig Red Seal play in five acts. I am not surprised. The part of "Sweet Alyssum" is that of an innocent young girl, care-free and unspoiled. She lives with her father on a little farm and is the apple of his eye. And then the stranger comes into her life. He is handsome—a school teacher with a past. She loves the stranger with all her heart and they elope and are married. Later he is arrested for theft and bigamy. There is a baby which "Sweet Alyssum" is willing to sacrifice for the life of her husband. Of course everything turns out all right and the real villain is punished.

I always loved that story and I was delighted when Director Colin Campbell cast me for the title role. I was proud, too, to appear in a Selig Red Seal play in a stock company that included such artists as Tyrone Power and Miss Kathryn Williams. I really and truly lost myself in the role, something that is as possible in motion picture art as on the legitimate stage.

The big scene where "Sweet Alyssum" holds her first-born in the line of fire from her father's rifle in order to save the life of her young husband, was rehearsed again and again before it was satisfactory and I am told the rehearsing was worth while for the scene has been pronounced one of the most intense in motion pictures.

There is another scene that I just know would be praised. That scene is where Roanoke Brooks confronts his wife with the hidden flint. It should be remembered by motion picture lovers that "Sweet Alyssum" is the first Selig play in which Tyrone Power and Miss Kathryn Williams appear. How could the scene be otherwise than tense with those two great stars playing opposite to each other? It is action that is certain to go down into motion picture history.

CULTIVATE JUDGMENT.

Its Possession Is What Makes a Man Successful in Business.

It was one of the intellectual shocks of my young manhood to discover that an analytical chemist could often get only $50 a month. I had long looked with awe upon the accurate percentages and detailed reports of the analytical chemist. This water contains 2341 grains of such and such substance per gallon. I wondered at the marvelous man who could get out such fine results, and to learn that he at times gets but $50 a month was a shock.

The explanation is this. The chemical analysis of ordinary specimens is a technical process of a perfectly definite character. If a work is definite and therefore capable of being reduced to clear cut instructions the pay that it commands is not likely to be high, even though the work itself is complicated. It requires good memory and painstaking obedience to instructions. Many persons have these qualities. The scarce attribute is judgment, that indefinable quality capable of meeting a new situation and handling it with common sense or gumption, to put it in a homely term.

Judgment is indefinite. We cannot lay out instructions in advance to tell the manager how to meet situations. To buy good raw material he must learn to know the raw materials, and many of the tests he applies are too fine for words to reduce to instructions. He must decide for indefinite reasons that now is a good time to enlarge or retrench; that here is a good place to open up business; that now is a good time to buy or to run low on stock; that this man needs to be hired; that this man needs to be fired.

It is in the making of decisions that successful management lies. And most of these decisions are beyond rule. They are indefinite. They are judgment.—Engineering Magazine.

SHE WAS SYMPATHETIC.

But Her Attempt to Be Chatty Brought an Embarrassing Moment.

This is an extract from a letter written by a woman who is willing to share a good joke, even if the laugh is at her own expense:

"It was a damp, windy day—the sort of day that turns straight, straggly blond hair like mine into a mass of snags and ends that stick out about the face and neck with frightful effect. I was downtown on a shopping expedition that was exceptionally trying, and I knew I looked so bad that I carefully avoided all chance of glimpses into mirrors, for I was sure I could not, under the circumstances, improve my appearance much. Recklessly I entered a tearoom with a friend whom I happened to meet.

"As I placed my shopping bag on the floor near the table at which we were to sit, another bag, exactly like my own, was put beside it. Quite naturally my glance followed the hand and arm up to the face of my neighbor, and as I met her look I said to myself, 'She has hair just like mine—sticking out in every direction—and she looks even worse than I do, poor thing!'

"Naturally, my heart went out to her in a great wave of sympathy. We smiled simultaneously as our troubled eyes met, and I said aloud and quite distinctly, 'If we are not careful we shall get our shopping bags mixed!'

"The moment the words were out of my mouth I wished very earnestly that the floor would mercifully open and let me through. It did not require the subdued snicker from the nearby tables to awaken me to the realization that I had been addressing the image of myself in the mirror of which the entire side of the shop was formed. Do you get the picture?"—Youth's Companion.

A Natural Inquiry.

Helen was a very inquisitive child who greatly annoyed her father each evening with endless questions while he tried to read the newspaper. One evening, among other things, she demanded, "Papa, what do you do at the store all day?"

Exasperated at her persistence he answered briefly, "Oh, nothing."

Helen was silent a moment, and then asked, "But how do you know when you are done?"—Harper's Magazine.

How Do You Make a Circle?

The intelligence of people may be gauged by asking them to make a circle on paper with a pencil and noting in which direction the hand is moved. The good student in a mathematical class draws circles from left to right. The inferiority of the softer sex as well as the male dunces is shown by their drawing from right to left. Asymmetrical patients do the same.—London Family Doctor.

Had Followed Directions.

"Now," said the nervous old lady to the druggist, "are you sure you have that medicine mixed right?"
"No, ma'am," said the conscientious apothecary. "I wouldn't go as far as that, but I've mixed it the way the doctor ordered it."—Chicago News.

Snubbed.

"Yes; we pay spot cash for everything."
"Ah, I often speak to my husband about the time when we had to!"—Pack.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' HIKE

(Contributed)

On Saturday morning the Monoclinic Camp Fire Girls of the Presbyterian church, hiked to McAllister's Dam and enjoyed one of the most delightful days of the season. Racing was practised on the way out. On arrival the girls built fire-places and proceeded to prepare their breakfast. Nothing could be more enjoyed than to prepare the first meal of the day in God's out-of-doors. But on all their work the girls were graded and later it was found that Miss Nellie Warner was in the lead with Miss Mabel Galbraith a close second. Many pictures were taken and games played, so that a very delightful time was had by all.

Chinese Amulet.

One of the commonest amulets worn by an only son in China is a small silver lock, according to the authors of "The Book of Talismans." The father collects coins from about a hundred different needs of families, and has them exchanged for silver, which is converted into a native padlock used to fasten a silver chain round the boy's neck. This, it is believed, will preserve him from evil spirits, lock him to life and contribute to his death and longevity.

Pain Disappears and Swelling Vanishes in a Few Days.

Rheuma—that is the name of the scientific prescription that is putting rheumatism out of business.

Rheuma cures by driving the uric acid from the blood. It also acts directly on the kidneys and is better for them than most so-called kidney cures.

Says Samuel Powell of Geneva, Ky.: "For several years I was such a sufferer from rheumatism I could not straighten out my right arm or leg. After taking one bottle of Rheuma my limbs are supple and free from pain."

Gratifying relief comes in a day, because Rheuma acts at one time on the kidneys, stomach, liver and blood. 50 cents a bottle. The People's Drug Store and all druggists.

Pinkey's Romance

By F. A. MITCHEL

"I don't know what mak' one woman jealous an' anudder. 'Spec' dey don't look at it de right way. Dere ain't no better way to git eben wid a man what do yo' ha'n dan to turn him over to anudder woman, specially when yo' hab de choosin' ob dat udder woman."

When I war a gal an' didn't hab no sense, Pete Tucker come cou'nin' me. Nobody hadn't talked lub to me befo', an' I war de mos' pleased gal yo' ever see. I jis' felt I wanted to lat all de time. Yeh, yeh, didn't I feel fine!

"Pinkey," said missis, says she, "yo' got to be de mos' beautiful time ob yo' life, de time ob romance."

"Don't know what dat is," I says, says I, "but it's might' nice to hab a young man tellin' yo' dat yo' one ob de angels jis' dropped out o' heaben."

"I hope yo' an' yo' fandey be berry happy togeder," says missis, "when yo' maari'd."

"What's a fancy?"

"Yo' fancy is Pete."

"Oh," says I. "Reckon de happiness las' till de doo' ob heaben open an' tak' us in."

"Yo' musn't expect dat de romance las' all de time," says missis. "Dere mus' be interruptions."

De fus' interruption happen befo' de wedding. Missis gib me a watch for Christmas. It war de prettiest little watch yo' ever see. De price war marked on de box it come in, an' I knowed it cost $5. One day when Pete an' I war a-settin' so close togeder dat yo' couldn't git a piece ob tissue paper between us I war wearin' mah watch around mah neck. Pete tuk it in he han' an' said dat it war de mos' beautiful watch he ever see. He opened de case to see de works an' foiled wid 'em till de watch didn' go no mo'.

Pete war mighty troubled at stoppin' de watch an' said he tak' it to de jeweler's to hab it fixed. He war gwine to bring it back de next day.

Dat war de las' I ever see ob mah watch. An' when Pete used up all de excuses in de dictionary fo' keepin' it, I didn't see any mo' ob Pete nudder.

Dat war de fus' an' de las' interruption to de happiness ob me an' Pete. I didn't say nothin' an' I didn't do nothin'. Pete got wot' in anudder town an' I didn't see him no mo' fo' a long time. While Pete war away de romance missis talked about war dribblin' out ob me, an' de had sense lak de shell ob de coconut war gettin' inside. One day Pete come back. He didn't come near me; he dodged me when he sor me comin', takin' anudder cou'nin' trough de alleys.

Dere war a woman named Liz dat I knowed. She'd been in de calaboose fo' shavin' de cheek off her husband wid a razor. I went to Liz an' I says:

"Dey say Pete Tucker come back wid a lot ob money. He mus' a been speckerist'n' or somepin. Some gal ougter hab de spendin' ob dat money."

"How she do dat?" says Liz.

"Marry him, ob cose," I says.

Nex' day I meets Pete, an' I says: "Pete, yo' needn' dodge me. I got ober de romance pa't ob mah life. I don't want to marry nobody. Seen Liz. How lately?"

"No, I habn' sor Liz."

"Dey say Liz fader died an' lef' her 'bout hundred dollars."

"Dey wa'n't no use sayin' any mo'. De fus' thing I knowed Pete an' Liz war libin' togeder as man an' wife, though I hadn' heard ob no divorce between Liz an' her fus' husband. I jis' lef't till I thought I would hab a fit. I'd had de romance; now it war Pete's turn to hab it."

Ma aunt, Sue Baker, a wash lady, libed opposite whar Pete an' he new angel jist out ob heaben—yeh, yeh!—war spendin' de honeymoon. I says to ma aunt: "Aunt, yo' got a powerful big wash dis week. Don't yo' want me to help yo'?"

Ma aunt said she didn't want me till I tol' her I don't want no wages. Den she tuk me in. De secon' day after I come to ma aunt's I hearn de happy singin' apposite, yeh, yeh, yeh! at each oder, an' fust thing I knowed I hearn a crash. I reckoned Liz war a-breakin' a cheer ober Pete's head, fo' de do' opened, an' Pete rushed out as if a ha'n't war behin' him, followed by Liz wid de back ob a broke cheer in her han'. She coteched Pete by de coat, but he lef' it off. Den she tuk hold ob he shirt, and it war woolen, an' it held. She jumped on him wid bofe feet, an' he made a noise lak a calf carried away from de madder cow.

I war peekin' from de bilin's, fo' if I let 'em see me dey would bofe lef' each oder an' jumped on me fo' bringin' 'em togeder in de romance. But I jes' lef't an' lef't till mah close split open in de back.

"What yo' libin' at?" axed ma aunt.

"Dat nigra cot'ed me an' tol' me dat I war an angel jist stepped out ob heaben. Den he tuk mah watch what missis gib me for Christmas box, I tol' Liz he got a lot ob money, an' I tol' him she got a lot ob money. Reckon he won't tak' no mo' watches ob me. Yeh, yeh! Look!"

Ma aunt peeked from de bilin's an' saw Liz an' Pete togeder off to de station fo' dis'mornin' de peace. One policeman had Pete by de collar, shovin' him along, an' anudder had Liz by de arm, draggin' her, while a crowd war followin', shoutin' demsel's hos'es.

Talk about bein' jealous ob anudder woman! De way fo' a gal wha' hab a grudge ag'in a man is to mink a match fo' him wid de gal wha' got de wus' temper she kin fin'.

VALUE OF THE TREES

Enhance the Beauty of Landscape and Architecture.

Plants Improve Climate, Conserve Soil and Moisture, and Every Effort Should Be Put Forth to Provide Ample Protection.

Trees are inviting and encouraging to outdoor life. It is partly for this advantage that many city people who have the means seek homes in the suburbs and farther in the country. There they can enjoy trees in their native splendor and fill their lungs with the pure oxygen generated by the abundance of plant life.

The commercial value of the tree should appeal to those who are not touched by its esthetic value. Every man should realize that a tree bordered farm or city street means an increase in value of the property with the growth of the trees.

Trees improve climate, conserve the soil and the moisture, and every effort should be put forth to protect and save the trees we now have and more trees of the right kind should be planted.

Tree surgery is a profession which has grown to considerable importance, and in this way sick and diseased trees are being restored to health. Briefly, tree surgery consists in cutting out the rotted parts of the trees and filling the cavities thus made with some substance which will make the cavity water and air tight. Most of these cavities are the results of improper trimming. A stub is left where a branch has been amputated. This stub, into which the living sap no longer flows, becomes saturated with moisture, rot spores become active, the stub soon rots off, leaving the beginning of a pocket or cavity, which is gradually increased by the action of the rot spores and boring insects. Then the birds and squirrels begin to build their nests in these cavities and help to increase them until almost the entire center of the tree trunk has been destroyed. Unless this rotting is stopped the strongest and most magnificent tree will be destroyed.

The proper way to proceed is to clean out the entire cavity, using a chisel or gouge to remove all the rotted wood. Then wash the interior of the cavity with a solution of copper sulphate made by dissolving in a wooden vessel, one-fourth of a pound

This Sum Has Been Taken by Schemes Despite Vigilance of Federal Officers.

Fraudulent schemes ranging from offers of $100 to girls for the use of their photos in advertising a new brand of chewing gum to the sales of finger rings supposed to cure everything from St. Vitus dance to adenoids have swindled the American public of more than $239,000,000 in the last four years, according to postoffice officials.

In an effort to reduce this wholesale victimization the postoffice department has issued fifty six fraud orders during the last year. The issuance of such an order denies the person named in it the use of the mails.

"The number of fraudulent schemes has been greatly diminished," said J. Julien Southerland, assistant solicitor of the postoffice department, who passes on most of the fraud order cases, "but the records show that during the last four years the schemes suppressed had niched from the public over $239,000,000. One concern had receipts of over $500,000 last year. The promoter of a fake anti-fat preparation spent $200,000 in a single month on advertising."

"During the last four years the department has had over 15,000 cases involving fraudulent use of the mails, and during that period has received and answered about 200,000 communications relating to fraudulent use of the mails."

Last year investigations were undertaken in 4,000 cases, and over 40,000 complaints and inquiries were received.

During the Taft administration some particularly few fraud orders were issued, it being the position of the chief executive that persons guilty of violating the postal laws should be prosecuted in the courts.

It was pointed out, however, that legal delays of one sort and another often made it possible to conduct a fraudulent business for months and years. Even after conviction the fine was often much less than the government's cost of prosecution.

The present administration has adopted the policy of issuing a fraud order wherever one is believed to be warranted.

KNOW THY COUNTRY

Manufacturing

The factory is the farmer's workshop for he must pay the expenses of preparing his products for the market; meet the pay roll of the manufacturer; pay for the machinery and all other expenses. The loom, the forge, the slaughter pen and the gristmill have moved from the farm and concentrated in the city, where powerful machinery, skilled labor and organized markets prepare the products for consumption more economically and efficiently, but the farmer still pays the bill. The railroad trains have taken the place of the prairie schooner, affording cheap and rapid transit and making it possible to concentrate products and build up manufacturing centers.

The farmer is, therefore, interested in the manufacturer and his problems and in order to grasp the magnitude and importance of the industry to the agricultural interests a brief review of the business is essential.

Official estimates based on the returns of the federal census taken in 1910 show that there were 321,000 manufacturing establishments in the United States in 1914 employing approximately 11,000,000 persons at an annual pay roll expense of $5,546,000,000.

We have $24,181,000,000 invested in our manufacturing industries and the yearly production is valued at $26,550,999,999, a gross return on the investment of more than 100 per cent. Our farming capital is approximately $41,000,000,000 and the annual gross production, including live stock and crops, is $10,000,000,000, or a gross return on the investment of 25 per cent.

In 1920 approximately 16 per cent of the working population were engaged in manufacturing and 83 per cent were employed in agricultural pursuits. At the last federal census 6,000,000 gainful workers were distributed 23 per cent in manufacturing establishments and 33 per cent in agriculture.

The number of people employed in manufacturing has increased from 349,000 in 1820 to about 11,000,000, an increase of 31-fold, while the number of farm workers has multiplied over six times this period.

There are 408,472 engines and motors in the factories of the United States with a combined horse power of 18,675,000.

Lumber and timber mills are our leading industry from the standpoint of persons employed. Foundry and machine shops rank second, and cotton mills third. In value of annual output slaughtering and meat packing come first, with foundry and machine shops second and lumber and timber third. In wealth-creation or the value added to raw material by the manufacturing process the foundry and machine shops take first rank, with the lumber mills and printing and publishing industries second and third, respectively.

New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts and Ohio are the five leading manufacturing states. In number of wage earners, value of output and value added by manufacture they rank in the order mentioned with the exception of Illinois, which is fourth in this respect, with Massachusetts third.

In capital investment foundry and machine shops are first, lumber mills second and steel mills third. These are the only industries in the nation that have a capital investment of more than a billion dollars.

Do You Feel Headachy

Look To Your Stomach

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way The Peoples' Drug Store, the popular druggist, is selling Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

Never before have they had so large a number of customers tell them that a medicine has been successful as with Mi-o-na. People who a few months ago looked like walking skeletons have put on flesh and today are ruddy and vigorous with perfect digestion and good health.

There is no longer any need for anyone suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na can always be relied upon. The percentage of cures is so great that there is little risk to The Peoples' Drug Store in guaranteeing to return the money if the medicine does not relieve. And they stand ready to do so without any questions.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, nervousness, the drowsy feelings, and all forms of liver trouble are helped by Mi-o-na. A few days' treatment should show considerable gain in health while a complete cure often follows rapidly.

PUBLIC SALE

ON SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1915.

The undersigned will sell at public sale at his residence in Mt. Pleasant township on the Miller and Himes farm, formerly known as the Rummel farm, 1/2 mile off the Bonneville road, midway between Gettysburg and Hagerstown, the following:

Pennsylvania Man Gets Quick Remedy for His Long Suffering Stomach.

Henry F. Curry of the Hotel Bartlett at Cambridge Springs, Pa., suffered most desperately from ailments of the stomach and digestive tract for years. He spent a fortune in the pursuit of health.

At last he happened to discover Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. He found relief quickly. Mr. Curry wrote: "I have spent thousands of dollars for doctors and medicine and hardly got temporary relief, and before I took your medicine I was about discouraged. But after taking your medicine I got great relief. My mental and physical suffering had been so bad that I had to resort to morphine, and even with that I did not get much relief. Your remedy helped me wonderfully. I have a good appetite, sleep well and have gained weight."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATERS

Take Your Morning Bath in Comfort

Not only during the warmer months, but all through the hard, raw, shivery winter time.

In spite of the coldest, snowiest weather, you can get full pleasure from your morning bath if you'll only get a

PERFECTION Smokeless Oil Heater

Keep it ready by your bedside, spreading its genial warmth all through your sleeping room; then, just as soon as you roll out of bed, put your Perfection in the bathroom. In less than no time this, too, will be warm—not too warm, but just right.

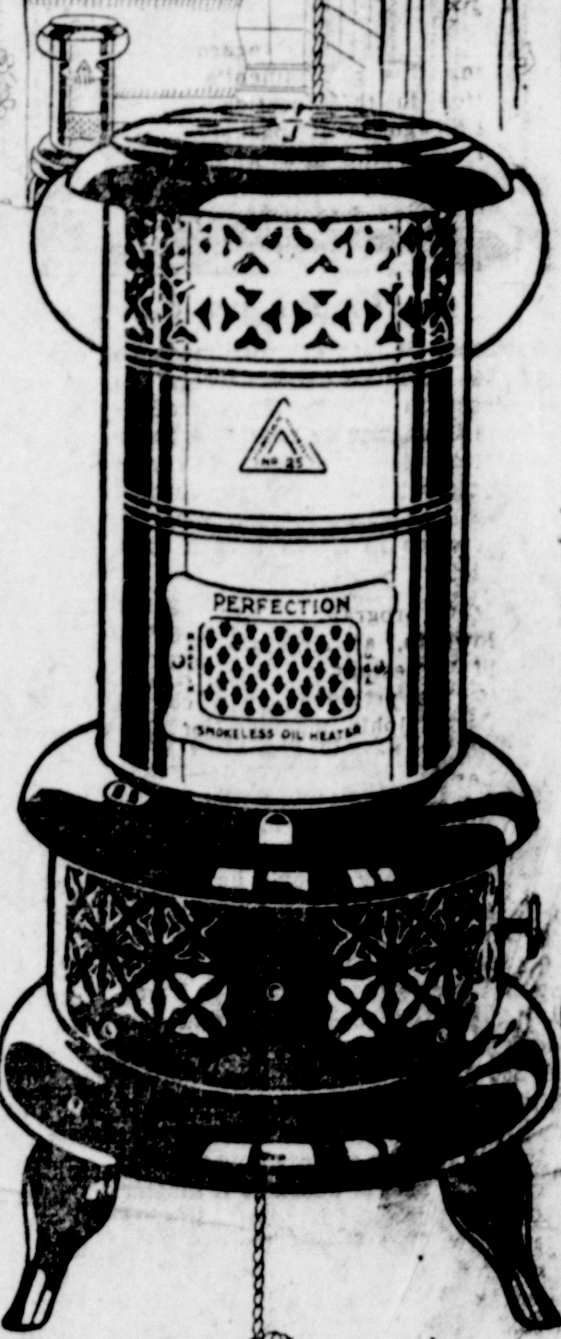

A Perfection Heater makes the usual winter ice-cold tiled floor but a memory. Because of recollections of past discomforts, once used this heater becomes indispensable to your comfort.

It is a perfect heating device, burns without a trace of smoke or smell. Its fuel economy is pronounced, the more so if you use Atlantic Rayolight Oil. A large one-gallon tank makes constant refilling unnecessary.

Almost any dealer will gladly demonstrate a Perfection Oil Heater. The modest price ($2.75 to $5.00) will especially please and astonish you.

Got any rusty pots or pans—so badly rusted that you feel like throwing them away? Don't. Instead, clean them with Atlantic Rayolight Oil and, as if by magic, the rust will disappear. What do you do with kerosene? If you know any real good uses, you'll enjoy reading later advertisements.

ACTION, NOT WORDS, WANTED

Britain's Next Move in Trade Controversy.

ARBITRATION LAST RESORT

Washington is Devising Means to Enforce the Demands in the Last Note.

Washington, Nov. 9.—It is England's next move in the commerce interference controversy. The administration considered measures to enforce the demands made in this government's last note, protesting against British trade interference.

Action instead of words is expected from England, administration officials declared, as a proper reply to the note. The anticipation expressed in the note that new orders complying with this government's vigorous insistence on removal of restrictions on American trade will be realized, it is hoped.

It will be some weeks before a reply can be expected from England. Because of the length of the American note and the numerous technical legal points raised, it will be impossible for England to reply immediately.

Arbitration is to be the last resort of the United States in obtaining satisfactory settlement, officials indicated. If a deadlock develops, as seems possible, it can be stated authoritatively that the United States will consent to arbitration, confident of the strength of its case.

Messages poured into the White House commending the American note.

Officials were interested in the reception the note received in British official circles and the British press. The administration was also interested in learning the view Berlin takes of the note. Officials contend it clearly demonstrates the strict neutrality of this government and deals as vigorously with England as with Germany on the question of the "freedom of the seas."

Failure specifically to protest the placing by England of cotton on the absolute contraband list and failure to detail objections to cotton cargo seizures was expected to draw criticism from southern congressmen and cotton interests. It has been officially announced, however, that a separate note is being prepared on the contraband question. Information to use in this note is still being gathered.

Expressions of an influential part of the German-American press commending the note's vigorous tone was especially gratifying to some administration officials. Congratulations of press comments were laid before President Wilson and Secretary Lansing.

The note was regarded as forecasting this government's immediate action in the question of seizure of Chicago meat packers' cargoes and also of the new Anglo-French policy of seizing vessels in which Germans are alleged to own an interest. Separate representations are expected soon protesting against seizure of the meat cargoes on "mere conjecture" when designed for entry into the "general stock" of a neutral country.

STONEMEN SEE PRESIDENT

Founder of Fellowship Assures Mr. Wilson of Support.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Full support of the administration's national defense program by the Stonemasons' Fellowship, an organization of laymen of Protestant churches, was promised to the president by a committee of Philadelphia members of the organization, headed by the president, the Rev. H. C. Stone.

The membership rolls of the fellowship, including 104,000 names, were exhibited to the chief executive, and he was given to understand that each signature was an endorsement of the resolution presented.

President Wilson expressed his sincere and deep appreciation of the support volunteered by the fellowship for the army and navy plans. The committee was received in the executive offices of the White House, no one else being permitted to be present. When the committee left its members said that any statement must come from the president.

Fall From Bridge Fatal

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 8.—Injuries received by Richard Jones, of Nanticoke, when he fell twenty feet from a railroad bridge over Harvey's creek, resulted in his death. He was walking over the bridge when the train appeared. In his excitement to reach a place of safety, he lost his balance.

Cousin of Governor Killed by Train

WILKES-BARRE ASKS FOR MORE STATE POLICE

The Situation in Trolley Strike is Critical.

Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 9.—A plea for one hundred more state policemen to assist in handling the local street car strike situation was made to the state authorities at Harrisburg by Sheriff Lewis P. Kniffen.

The situation is at a critical point following riots on every line of cars operated. All of the efforts of the local police and the state troopers stationed at the Wyoming barracks are needed to control matters along the lines now open.

Not half of the cars are yet running and Sheriff Kniffen fears that when all of the lines are in operation the situation will be beyond the power of the officials now in the Wyoming valley.

There was no serious trouble yesterday. A new line was opened, while the West side lines, in operation for several days, were also run. Only a few people rode on the cars.

Six riots of serious proportions occurred on the West side lines Sunday. In the boroughs of Edwardsville a detail of state police broke up a crowd of 600 men and boys who had stoned a car and driven the crew to shelter.

More than 1000 men stormed a car in the borough of Forty Fort. Burgess Joshua Williams attempted to check the mob by making an address, but stones and bricks were hurled over his head at the car men.

SKELETON IN RUINS OF HUT

Recluse Met Death When Fire Guttered His Home.

Washington, Pa., Nov. 9.—The skeleton of George Kingsley, a wealthy and eccentric recluse, was found in the ruins of a log hut, gutted by fire, on the D. L. Taylor farm.

The remains were identified by the finding of some peculiar gold jewelry known to have been possessed by Kingsley, who had been missing from his home in the woods for some days. Kingsley lived alone in a small house near the Taylor farm for years. He was known to have had considerable money. When in town, he paid for purchases in gold.

Chester Boy Killed by Car

Chester, Pa., Nov. 9.—George Jenkins, twelve-year-old son of Salem Jenkins, of 3500 West Fourth street, was crushed to death by an Upper Marcus Hook trolley car, when he jumped from a wagon to the car tracks. A motor car hurried the boy to the Chester hospital, more than two miles away, but the boy died before it was reached.

Lost Humor.
Mark Twain was once asked by an English clerk in a London bookstore to write his autograph.
"My chirography is becoming less and less distinct," complained the author whimsically as he complied with the request. "If this keeps on I'll have to be getting somebody else to write my autograph for me."
"But, sir," seriously responded the clerk, "nobody would want it then."

Safe From That.
"Now that you have been married a year what can you say of your experience?"
"Well," he replied solemnly, "I can truthfully say that I am sure that bigamy is one crime that I'll never commit."—Detroit Free Press.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

OYSTER DELICACIES.

OYSTER COCKTAIL.—Have oysters very cold. Put not more than six in each cocktail glass or sherbet cup, and just before sending to the table cover with a dressing made in the following way: Mix together one tablespoonful of mushroom ketchup, one tablespoonful of strained lemon juice, five drops of tabasco sauce and salt to taste. This quantity will make three cocktails. Serve thin slices of brown bread and celery with the cocktails.

Oyster Soup.—Take one quart of oysters. Put in a saucepan one quart of milk and one pint of water, with salt, pepper and mace; add a tablespoonful of butter and put on the stove. When it comes to a boil add the oysters and let the whole simmer five minutes. Thicken with cracker crumbs.

Broiled Oysters on Toast.—Broil lightly on the gridiron one pint of oysters. Place them on thin slices of buttered toast and pour over them a sauce made of a gill of cream, a teaspoonful of grated onion, a little lemon juice, salt and a dash of tabasco sauce. Serve hot and garnish with parsley.

Bacon and Oysters.—Drain twelve selected oysters and wrap each in a thin slice of good bacon, using wooden toothpicks as skewers. Place in the oven and bake until a rich brown. The oven should not get too hot.

Oyster Loaf.—Cut a long loaf of bread into slices about two inches thick. A baker's long five cent loaf will make six. Trim off the crust and make each piece square. Dig the crumbs out of the center of each piece, leaving sides and bottom like a box—that is, make a square box out of each slice of bread. Brush each box over with melted butter and put in a quick oven until a light brown. Fill with creamed oysters and serve.

Oyster Canapés.—Chop oysters, cocked in their own liquor and drained, very fine. Add the beaten yolk of an egg and enough soft breadcrumbs to make a paste. Season highly with lemon juice, black pepper, melted butter and salt. Cut thick slices of brown bread in any shape desired, spread of lace. A pretty feature of the trimming is the bib front.

ONE-PIECE FROCK WITH BIB FRONT.

A different type of one-piece frock is this model of submarine blue cloth, with vest, cuffs and girdle of plaid silk. There is a shoulder yoke, and the collar is sacrificed to dainty ruffles of lace which outline the neck. Either a turn-down or high collar may be used, however. There are many inexpensive materials in which this model may be reproduced. In average size it requires 3½ yards 54-inch cloth, with 1 yard 36-inch silk for the trimming.

At least five sections of the pattern must be laid on the lengthwise fold of the goods to be cut properly, the purpose being to avoid seams and gain a graceful line for the dress. The front gore, collar, back and front are the parts so arranged. A sixth section is the trimming piece, in case it is used. Opposite the front gore, along the selvedge edge, is placed the belt. To the right of this comes the back gore, one edge of which rests on the lengthwise fold and the other along the selvedge. The section is placed on a lengthwise thread of material, however. The sleeve, cuff and side front come next, all on a lengthwise thread. After the sections are pinned carefully into place cut out and put aside until ready for use.

If the square neck is to be used it will be necessary to cut off the upper edge of the front on double small "o" perforations. Similar perforations are provided for shortening the sleeves and skirt.

In colorings one-piece frocks usually affect the simple shades which yet have plenty of depth and richness about them. Black and white effects are much in favor, while blue, always popular and serviceable, is seen in many shades, and the beautiful tones of the new greens could not be excelled in attractiveness.

A Daisy Party.

At any paper novelty house large daisies can be purchased, and they must have just eight petals. The children are given the yellow centers, from which the petals were neatly cut off and hidden around the lower floor of the house. Then the little folks hunt for the petals, and the first child who finds eight petals is provided with a paste pot and brush and told to paste the petals back on the yellow center. While he is doing this another child will have been successful in his search for the petals and will also try to complete his daisy. The prizes are awarded to the boy or girl who makes the neatest daisy in the shortest time.

These daisies could easily be made at home, cutting the center from cardboard and having the petals at least three inches long. Of course this is a very simple little game and only intended for very tiny folks.

Using a Blanket as an Overcoat.

To make a regulation scout overcoat from a blanket fold the blanket round you, narrow end up. The bottom should strike you about the knees, just where you want the coat to be. Lap the two sides in front and fasten them so with a belt outside the blanket. Draw the top corners over your shoulders and cross them on the chest. Tuck the ends into the belt on each side. If you have slack to spare at the top you can draw it up over your head and have a Canadian capote, like the Hudson bay trappers. This makes a neat military looking overcoat and is very comfortable.—Kansas City Star.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE

Valuable Real Estate and Fruit Farm On Wednesday, November 10th, 1915.

The undersigned, by virtue of an order of sale to him directed by the Court of Common Pleas of Adams county, will offer at public sale on the premises, the following valuable real estate and fruit farm, viz:—

No. 1. The Aaron Schlosser farm, situate in Menallen township, Adams county, near Wenks, along the public road leading from Bendersville to Boyds, and about three miles West of Bendersville, in the famous fruit belt, not far from Dr. James G. Stover's orchards, containing 169 ACRES AND 45 PERCHES, more or less, adjoining lands of Margaret Black, Paul C. Taylor, Ellen Willis, Edward Warren, Laura Taylor and others, improved with a LARGE TWO STORY BRICK DWELLING HOUSE, LARGE BANK BARN and necessary out-buildings. This land is naturally fertile and productive, conveniently located, with plenty of never-failing springs of water at house and barn, and containing about 60 acres of growing timber. ABOUT 25 ACRES of the above tract is planted with a FOUR YEAR OLD APPLE ORCHARD in thriving condition. The buildings are in good condition, and the property is a most desirable one.

No. 2. Lot of ground adjoining and contiguous to Tract No. 1, containing One Acre and 8.4 perches, more or less, improved with a two story brick dwelling house and outbuildings.

At the same time and place the undersigned will offer for sale the following personal property: AN OVERLAND 5-PASSENGER AUTOMOBILE, 1914 model, in good condition; also about 250 bushels of corn.

Sale at 1:30 p. m., when terms and conditions will be made known by

WILLIAM HERSH, Assignee, Gettysburg, Pa.

Medical Advertising - SCRATCHED 10 YEARS - HEALED IN ONE WEEK

Finally Cured by Using One Dollar Bottle of Amolox.

One bottle of Amolox cured me. For ten years I suffered with eczema of the scalp, my head being covered with scales and scabs. I tried everything recommended and everything advertised without relief until I bought a bottle of Amolox. It relieved the itching at once and one bottle entirely cured my eczema. I heartily and cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers of this horrible disease.

James W. Seward, Brazil, Indiana. Amolox ointment will quickly remove pimples on the face, blackheads, and clear up a muddy complexion. Trial size, 50c. Bad cases of eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, tetter, lasting for years, require both Amolox solution and ointment to effect a cure. Recommended and guaranteed by The People's Drug Store.
